Rainforests, savannas, and wetlands form the backbone of Belize's birdwatching hotspots. The lush rainforests of the Maya Mountains host a plethora of species, including the elusive Rufous-winged Tanager and the enigmatic Great Curassow. The open grasslands of the savannas provide a haven for raptors such as the Red-tailed Hawk and the Fork-tailed Kite. The tranquil waters of Belize's swamps and lagoons attract a variety of waterbirds, including the colorful Roseate Spoonbill and the majestic Great Egret.

Colours Caye: A Birdwatcher's Paradise on the Caribbean Sea

Situated off the coast of Belize City, Colours Caye is a private island that offers an exclusive and immersive birding experience. This picturesque island is home to over 130 species of birds, including the iconic Azure-rumped Tanager, the vibrant Rufous-tailed Jacamar, and the elusive Brown-hooded Parrot.

At Colours Caye, you will have the opportunity to explore a variety of habitats, including mangrove forests, coastal wetlands, and lush gardens. Guided tours led by expert ornithologists will take you to prime birding spots, where you can witness the incredible diversity and beauty of Belize's avian life.
