Once upon a time, there was a little rabbit named Hazel who lived in a park. The park was a beautiful place, with green grass, tall trees, and a sparkling stream. But Hazel was not happy. She was bored and lonely, and she longed for something more in her life.

One day, Hazel was hopping through the park when she saw a group of rabbits playing in a field of flowers. The flowers were all different colours, and they were so beautiful that Hazel could not take her eyes off them. She went over to the rabbits and asked them what they were ng.

"We're playing a game," one of the rabbits said. "We're trying to find the most beautiful flower in the park." Hazel smiled and said that she wanted to play the game with them. She looked around and saw so many beautiful flowers that she didn't know where to start.

Hazel hopped from flower to flower, admiring their beauty. She saw red roses, yellow sunflowers, bluebells, purple violets, and even a rainbow of wildflowers. She couldn't decide which flower was the most beautiful, but she knew that she wanted to keep the journey going through the park.

As she hopped, Hazel met many interesting characters. She met a wise old owl, a playful squirrel, a gentle deer, and a friendly fox. They all told her stories about the park and the many wonders it held.

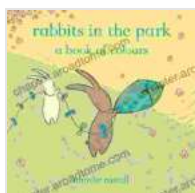

Through her adventures, Hazel began to discover her own inner beauty. She learned that she was brave, kind, and curious. She also learned that there was more to life than just hopping around and eating carrots.

By the end of her journey, Hazel had found much more than just the most beautiful flower in the park. She had found herself.

Rabbits In The Park Of Colours is a charming and heartwarming tale that will appeal to children of all ages. It is a story about friendship, adventure, imagination, and the importance of being true to yourself.

This book is perfect for bedtime reading, or for any time when you want to share a special story with your child.
